F12 Reports of the Parliamentary Parties

Q1 Submitted by Andrew Hudson

Why did the Liberal Democrat ministers support a 23% rise in political parties allotted general election expenditure against the recommendations of the electoral commission?

Q2 Submitted by Andrew Hudson

Why did the Liberal Democrat members of the committee considering the modern slavery bill oppose enabling extension of the remit of the Gangmaster Licensing Authority?

Q3 Submitted by Gordon Lishman

What will happen if the Parliamentary Party in the Commons agree to support a government which contains other

Saturday 14th March political parties and a Special Conference then expresses the opinion that it supports the agreement, but with a majority between 50% and two-thirds?

Q4 Submitted by Suzanne Fletcher

We are proud of achievements of this Government in the last year in areas such as the modern slavery bill, and the positive impact it will have on victims. Also the way that FGM issues have been highlighted and pursued. However we are concerned that protection of, and rights of, women and girls who have suffered from FGM or are justifiably fearful of it, are not being taken as much note of if those women and girls have sought sanctuary in this country. A culture of disbelief by the Home Office means that many women and children, presently living in the UK, are still in danger of FGM. What steps are the Liberal Democrats in Government taking to change this culture and give these women and girls the protection that they need ?

Q5 Submitted by Suzanne Fletcher

I congratulate Sarah Teather MP who chaired the APPG into the use of Immigration Detention in the UK, and thank Julian Huppert MP and Baroness Sally Hamwee who also were part of the group. An excellent report has been produced that has been widely acclaimed by many organisations working in the asylum and refugee field. What steps will the parliamentary party take to ensure that the implementation of the recommendation of the Inquiry into the Use of the Immigration Detention in the United Kingdom that no one should be detained for more than twenty eight days is implemented in the first year of the next parliament.

F13 Report of the Federal Executive

Q1 Submitted by Sarah Noble

Does Article 15 of the Federal Constitution – “Support for a government which contains other political parties” – apply to Supply and Confidence agreements, and will the Federal Executive submit a constitutional amendment that clarifies this matter for the next Federal Conference?

Q2 Submitted by Spencer Hagard

Will the FE agree to i) full prior consultation with the Party membership about the terms of reference and process for the governance review and ii) provide a progress report about the review to Autumn 2015 Conference and hold a consultative session about it in Bournemouth?

Q3 Submitted by Suzanne Fletcher

Why has the Liberal Democrats for Seekers of Sanctuary been missed off the list of Associated Organisations to be given a link person with the Federal Executive?

Q4 Submitted by Gordon Lishman

What will happen if the Parliamentary Party in the Commons agree to support a government which contains other political parties and a Special Conference then expresses the opinion that it supports the agreement, but with a majority between 50% and two-thirds.

Q5 Submitted by Suzanne Fletcher

What steps in the party taking to provide rebuttals for party activists to use when challenged by untrue allegations about our policies or actions?

Sunday 15th March

Advance notice for Sunday 15th March.

F17 Emergency motion or topical issue discussion

The Federal Conference Committee has decided to schedule an emergency motion as well as a topical issue discussion.

F17A Emergency motion: Leaders' Debates

12 conference representatives

1 Conference notes that:

- 2 i) Approximately 10m people watched the first debate in 2010.
- 3 ii) There has so far been a failure to reach agreement between the broadcasters and political parties for
- 4 a model for debates for the 2015 General Election.
- 5 iii) That David Cameron has refused the most recent proposal from the broadcasters.
- 6 iv) That Ed Miliband has refused a challenge to meet Nick Clegg head to head in a debate.

7 Conference believes that:

- 11 debates in the wider public interest.

- 14 2. After the 2015 General Election broadcasters to formalise the process for debates in General
- 15 Elections, ensuring they happen and setting a clear threshold for those eligible to participate.
